

After the Calm
by Marco Zorra

After the calm
A breath always blows
From west to east
And a breath always answers
From east to west
Along a background
Of countless colours
On a sheet
Of a blue colour
Full of life
Full of every breath
Born from us