

One Love Longview, One Act At A Time

It is often said that when there is unity there is victory. This seems to be true in most cases, especially during the COVID-19 pandemic. Through the unity in the city of Longview, Texas a strong sense of hopefulness has emerged throughout the community. As the result of a handful of unique practices such as One Love Longview, the city of Longview has come together to ignite a flame of hope during these unprecedented times.

One of the wonderful things that Longview has done to combat the COVID-19 crisis is the formation of an organization called "One Love Longview." This organization has done many things, one of them being that they have gathered together an abundance of small businesses in order to donate resources needed such as healthcare. They also have monetary donations in order to provide healthcare for children and families that have fallen ill and are unable to cover the cost of treatment.

Another development One Love Longview has done is to gather the community in order to provide food and shelter to the less fortunate in the area. This has helped many families by providing the resources needed in order to stay safe and healthy. This development has also helped sprinkle hope throughout the community by allowing those more fortunate to work together to achieve a common goal of helping others. Through this, many families have been reached and are hopeful that through unity, the city of Longview will overcome this tragic time.

One of the most impactful creations of One Love Longview has been that they gathered many local therapists in the area who have volunteered to offer free counseling services to the public in need. This has helped many individuals in our community cope with the many difficulties our world is facing while continuing to provide a positive attitude. This organization has also helped to combat addictions within the community as well. They believe that addiction is fed by underlying mental illness and do everything they can to provide the recovery needed to heal.

One Love Longview has done many things to help combat the many problems presented and enhanced by the COVID-19 pandemic. These include healthcare, free therapy, food, shelter, and financing problems within the town. Through these unique acts of kindness they have sparked a light of hope within the community that has drastically changed the outlook the city has had since the pandemic hit. It has created a light the community needs in order to operate and thrive.
